Airmen Search for Locatelli East of Greenland

TRADE ROUTES TO FOLLOW TRAIL BLAZED BY AIR, DECLARES MAJOR MACLAREN

Linking of Nations by Air Route May Follow World Flight Attempts Says British Aviator; MacLaren First to Congratulate American Pilots on Arrival at Greenland.

Tanned and fit from four months of exposure, sixty days of which was spent in actual flying, Squadron Leader A. Stuart MacLaren and Flying Officer Plenderleith were greeted on arrival in this city this morning, and taken to the Naval Barracks, Esquimaux, as guests of the officers there. To The Times later Major MacLaren gave a brief resume of his personal observations of the aerial voyage which took the British party 12,000 miles from the start at Calshot, England on March 25, to unlooked for disaster in fog at the Komandorski Islands.

"While no one could contend for a moment that aeroplanes could encircle the globe on a commercial basis flying in regular trade routes, there are certain portions of the flight, to my mind, which can be linked up with existing services," he said.

"A great deal of the route through India could be made a commercial success, and there are other portions of the globe also that could be linked up for mail or other services where speed is the aim. On the other hand the monsoons of the Far East, especially in Indo-China make flying there a chance work, and not to be depended upon. The Pacific Ocean, he continued in answer to questions, "would be impossible for the aeroplane with any degree of certainty, such as required in commercial flying."

CAUSE OF DISASTER

Not engine failure, as previously supposed, but blinding fog put an end to the British world flight attempt. After leaving Tokyo, on the North Pacific section of the route, the British machine flew through fog almost continuously. Landings had to be postponed for, and flying became a matter of guess work rather than progress along charted routes and measured conditions. The fog increased in density as the party crossed the Kurile group and reached Kamchatka. On the final jump, that to the Komandorski Islands, fog came down thicker than experienced ever before and flight became impossible. The aviators narrowly escaped with their lives. This was, in August, whereas the scheduled flight would have been made in May. In May, stated Major MacLaren to-day, ideal conditions prevailed, only unlooked for delays in India en route used up precious days and exhausted stores. The spare machine left at Tokyo was called into action in India, whereas it was intended for just such an emergency as terminated the British flight. Isolated from civilization, with the nearest spare machine at Camp Borden, the aviators had to admit luck was against them.

INTERESTED IN AMERICANS

Sensitive to the failure which blasted a life ambition, Major MacLaren has a ready sympathy for the misfortunes of the other aviators attempting the same great adventure. One of his first thoughts to-day was to inquire as to the progress of the American flyers. In India, they had reached Greenland, Major MacLaren expressed genuine pleasure. "I am very glad to know they made it safely. They certainly deserve it, and they have shown themselves to be real sportsmen."

PRINCE OF WALES TO SAIL TO-MORROW

Will Leave Southampton
Aboard Berengaria For U.S. and Canada

Will be Accompanied by Lord and Lady Louis
Mountbatten

London, Aug. 22.—The Prince of Wales has packed his trunks, bade goodbye to his friends and with the exception of a few official matters to be attended to to-day, is ready to hand over his tickets to the purser of the liner Berengaria, which will leave Southampton to-morrow to take him on his second visit to Canada and the United States.

Since the vessel arrived in port Tuesday plumbers, carpenters, painters and upholsterers have been busy re-decorating the Imperial Suite, which the Prince will occupy. The suite, consisting of two bedrooms, saloon and breakfast room, now is in spotless white and gay chintz-covered chairs and draperies, new furniture and fixtures and other improvements, including a tiled bathroom.

CANADIAN CLUB HEARTILY CHEERS MAJOR MACLAREN

Aviator Tells of Trials Overcome at Luncheon at Empress Hotel

The Empress Hotel ballroom was crowded to capacity to-day when the Canadian Club entertained Major Stuart MacLaren, the British round-the-world aviator, and his companions in adventure, Flying Officer Plenderleith and Sergt. Andrews.

In addition to nearly two hundred members of the club, a very large attendance of the Women's Canadian Club heard the address. President Jos. Patrick, introducing the guests of the day, recalled that disaster had come after 14,000 miles of travel, "and if they have failed, it has been a glorious failure."

Major MacLaren was greeted with rounds of applause and cheers. The final hours of the flight in Alaska, he said, were the most trying of his life.

RECORD ATTENDANCE LOOKED FOR SATURDAY ON CLOSING DAY OF FALL EXHIBITION

Winding up the Provincial Fall Fair at the Willows to-morrow with an excellent programme of racing and trotting, a steeplechase as an extra attraction and more jumping competitions, the officials of the B. C. Agricultural Association hope for the attendance for the week to mount up to 40,000 admissions. This includes the youngsters who are admitted free and the thousands of people who are paying more than one visit to the exhibition. Saturday will be observed as American Day and Club Day, special invitations have been extended to United States visitors in the city and members of service and ex-service men's clubs. Band concerts will be given on the grandstand during the horse show. Finders' orchestra which plays every afternoon in the home products building has also announced the following appropriate programme to appeal to the United States visitors.

ANOTHER STOCK PARADE

Champion high jumpers will appear on the oval at 4 o'clock in an effort to establish a Canadian record. Another stock parade will also be held commencing at 4 o'clock for the benefit of those who were unable to attend Saturday.

BANQUET

The stockbreeders' banquet was held to-day presided over by Alderman George Sangster.

Ald. Sangster, on behalf of the management, thanked the exhibitors and regretted that they had not the pleasure of the presence of the U.S. stockbreeders, prohibited from showing on account of foot and mouth disease regulations. He briefly introduced the new secretary, W. H. Mearns, who was given a cordial reception. Mr. Mearns thanked the exhibitors for their co-operation in making the show such a success.

T. A. Macdonald, Provincial Livestock Commissioner, reviewed the exhibits and said the general average was the best ever shown in Victoria. He asked the stockmen to help in the stock parade to-morrow when a big attendance is looked for to show the visitors what an excellent display of stock there was at the show.

Ed Carey of Carleton, Oregon, an old exhibitor, welcomed the large number of young stockbreeders whom he noticed in the audience. With regard to the jerseys he hoped for stronger competition in this class next year and said throughout the Province he had seen many Jersey cattle well worthy of exhibiting.

W. Mackenzie gave a couple of songs, which were well received.

THREE KILLED BY TRAIN

Simcoe, Ont., Aug. 22.—Mrs. Robert Bain and Mrs. Thomas Phillips, both elderly women, and the four months' old baby of Walter Bain were killed yesterday when struck by a Michigan Central train at a level crossing east of Lasalle. They were in a one-horse covered buggy.

Ontario Makes Sale of Bonds on Favorable Terms

Toronto, Aug. 22.—Ontario borrowed at the lowest point in years to-day when an issue of $20,000,000 in 4½ per cent. twenty-year bonds payable in Canada, New York and London was sold at a cost basis of 4.91 per cent. This compares with a cost basis of 5.41 per cent. for the last Ontario loan on the Canadian market less than a year ago. A syndicate headed by the Bank of Montreal and the Dominion Bank was awarded the bonds on a bid of 94.5597.

FOUR BANDITS ROB BANK IN ILLINOIS FOR SECOND TIME

Venice, Illinois, Aug. 22.—The Venice State Bank was held up and robbed to-day for the second time within two months by four men, who escaped with $5,851. L. H. Riley, cashier, said he recognized the robbers to-day as the same men who on July 7 held up the bank and escaped with $12,407.

Beaulac, United States vice-consul at Puerto Castilla.

Striking Printers In Seattle Planning A Sunday Paper

Seattle, Aug. 22.—Plans have been formulated for printing a Sunday morning weekly in Seattle, with the ultimate object of issuing the newspaper daily, according to an announcement made in The Seattle Strike-Intelligencer, published by union printers, stereotypers and mailers who went on strike from The Seattle Post-Intelligencer May 20 as a protest against "Dead Horse" matter and working conditions. The announcement stated the name probably would be changed to The Puget Sound American and that the newspaper would give its readers "general news of the day."

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS WILL ARRIVE ON MONDAY AFTERNOON

Some of the most distinguished members of the British Association for the Advancement of Science who have accepted the invitation for Monday's functions here are reported in a wire from Dean R. W. Brock to be:

Major-General Sir David Bruce, president of the association, and Lady Bruce.

Sir William Bragg, the eminent physicist, Lady Bragg, and Miss Bragg.

Sir Charles Parsons, the engineer, and Lady Parsons. Sir

John Russell, the accomplished head of Rothamsted Experimental Station, and Lady Russell.

Lord Bledisloe, perhaps the leading authority on agriculture in England, and adviser to the British Government.

Sir Henry Rew, authority on food supplies, and Lady Rew.

Sir Thomas Holland, mining engineer, director of the Indian Geological Survey.

Sir Richard Paget and Miss Paget.

Sir William Beveridge, director of the London School of Economics.

Professor Eddington, the leading British authority on the Einstein theory, which is to form the subject of his lecture on Tuesday evening.

O. J. R. Howarth, O.B.E., general secretary of the association.

The party will proceed immediately to Government House, about 100 coming here the first day, where a garden party will be held. The civic dinner will be held at the Empress Hotel at 7 o'clock, at which fifty representative people and officials of learned societies will be invited to meet the visitors.

On Tuesday morning an additional 130 persons will arrive, and the drive to Butchart's gardens and the Dominion observatory will take place. There will be in addition some side trips to see various points of interest.

EXECUTION IN CALIFORNIA

Folsom, Cal., Aug. 22.—Martin Silasovitch, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Jennie Radman in Sacramento nearly two years ago and after slaying of John Silasovitch, said to be a cousin, was hanged at the state prison here this morning.

So great was the crush in the corridors and halls and on the stairways that a score of deputies and policemen were unable to control the mob. The court telephoned for police reinforcements, first for thirty

RUM-RUNNERS AND LAUNCH CAPTURED

One Man Critically Wounded
During Chase on Puget Sound

Cutter Arcata Fired 24 One-Pound Shells During Pursuit

Seattle, Aug. 22.—In a two-mile chase, the cutter Arcata of the United States coastguard, firing her one-pound gun twenty-four times, disabled and captured a launch in Hood Canal, west of here early to-day. Carl L. Scherer, owner of the launch, and R. Hendricks were arrested as rum runners.

Hendricks was critically wounded by a fragment of a shell. The coastguard, informed that the launch, dubbed the M-899, was going to take a cargo of liquor from Hood Canal to Grays Harbor, lay in wait at a point known as Whisky Spit. The M-899 appeared and the Arcata gave chase.

"We signalled for the launch to stop," narrated Boatswain L. A. Lonsdale after the Arcata had towed the riddled M-899 to Seattle, "and when she ignored us fired a one-pound shot across her bow."

"Although she was overtaken with liquor she commenced to pull away from us. We opened fire and the two men on her began throwing cases of liquor overboard. They kept it up until we hit their engine and they had to stop."

SEVENTY CASES

Fifty cases of beer and twenty cases of whisky were seized with the M-899. Boatswain Lonsdale said as much more had been cast into the water.

When the M-899 reached her deck and deckhouse were splintered and a man had been cut off by a shot. She had an eight-cylinder engine and was rated at twenty knots, laden.

ITALIAN AVIATOR MISSING WHILE U.S. WORLD AIRMEN PLAN FLIGHT TO LABRADOR

Scout Planes Sent Out From U.S. Patrol Craft East of Greenland to Hunt for Locatelli, Who Failed to Reach Frederiksdaal; U.S. Fliers Hope to Proceed to Labrador Sunday.

Aboard U.S.S. Richmond, on Patrol Between Iceland and Greenland, Aug. 22. (By the Associated Press)—Rear-Admiral Thomas P. Magruder has ordered the United States cruisers Richmond and Raleigh and the destroyer Barry to make a search east of Cape Farewell, Greenland, for Lieut. Locatelli, Italian aviator, who left Iceland with the United States round-the-world fliers yesterday for Greenland.

The search will be made by means of the planes carried by the cruisers for scouting purposes and will be continued indefinitely.

Admiral Magruder is preparing to send out a general alarm if Locatelli is not found soon.

It is believed by some of the officers of the Richmond that the Italian aviator may have proceeded to Ivigtut instead of halting at Frederiksdaal.

ON BOARD IVIGTUT

On Board U.S.S. Lawrence, Indian Harbor, Labrador, Aug. 21.—(By the Associated Press—Delayed)—Wireless advice received aboard the Lawrence this afternoon indicate that the United States army world fliers planned to continue on from Frederiksdaal to Ivigtut on the west coast of Greenland, to-morrow (Friday) From Ivigtut, it was stated, the aviators expected to stop off Sunday for Indian Harbor.

WON THE TEST

Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 21. (9 p.m.—Delayed)—The United States army hazardous hop from Iceland to Greenland—the world fliers have made the land, arriving safely to-night at Frederiksdaal, their goal near Cape Farewell on the southern tip of the Greenland coast. Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, commander of the flight, landed at 6:10 p.m. and Lieut. Erik Nelson at 7:15. The airmen left here at 8:15 o'clock this morning.

LOCATELLI MISSING

No word has been received as to the landing of the Italian aviator, Lieut. Locatelli, who accompanied them on the flight.

AN HOUR APART

Battling a dense fog over the last miles of their perilous trip and feeling their way towards Frederiksdaal with the utmost caution, Lieut. Smith and Nelson landed almost an hour apart under conditions described by the Danish gunboat Islands Falk, patrolling off Cape Farewell, as "extremely dangerous."

INQUEST SATURDAY ON ELDERLY COUPLE KILLED IN SAANICH

Police in Possession of Fresh Material Following Investigations

Dr. E. C. Hart Will Preside at Inquest 11 o'Clock Tomorrow

Inquest on the remains of the late A. D. MacLachlan, and D. T. Ballantyne, elderly companions found lying dead at the side of the Saanich Road near the railway crossing on Wednesday evening, will be held at the B.C. Funeral Company premises on Saturday at 11 a.m., according to the Saanich police to-day.

In advance of the inquest the police decline to disclose the nature of the evidence that will be submitted to the coroner's panel, but it is known that fresh material, brought out by police investigation yesterday, will be laid before the coroner. Dr. E. C. Hart will preside. Death in both cases was instantaneous. It is understood. Both men were widowers, with grown families.

In addition to one daughter, Mrs. E. W. Andrews, Ross Street, and three sons living at the residence on North Quadra Street, Messrs. Allan Gordon and Clyde Ballantyne, the late D. T. Ballantyne is survived by three sisters, Mrs. A. Armstrong, Oakland, Cal.; Mrs. W. Montgomery, (Concluded on page 2.)

AUSTRALIANS TO PLAY SOCCER HERE

All Canadian Soccer Eleven
Is Home From Antipodes

Played Twenty-six Matches
in Commonwealth

That an Australian football team would probably make a tour of Canada next year was the message brought to Victoria to-day by James Adam, popular local sporting man, who managed the all-Canada team on its recent tour. He returned on the liner Makura with the team, who immediately continued to Vancouver to accept the challenge of the English Corinthian team, before the all-stars disbanded. This game will be played to-morrow.

Mr. Adam's personal popularity was amply demonstrated in the hearty welcome accorded him by all classes of the community to-day. He said the team had had a wonderful time, and a wonderful welcome in Australia. In a tour which embraced parts of New South Wales, Queensland, Victoria, and South Australia they had almost ideal weather throughout, and only one ground was found to be hard for playing. During a stay in about three months, twenty-six matches were played, seven of which were lost, seven drawn, and the balance were won. Apart from the two played before sailing from here, the team has also met a New Zealand eleven in Auckland, N. Z., and a team at Honolulu, where an easy victory awaited them.

The Australians admitted they were able to learn many points from the Canadian team, speakers admitted at the numerous social functions to the visitors, and the all-Canada eleven has also received some interesting pointers.

In answer to a question from The Times with regard to the allegations of rough play by the Australians, Mr. Adam stated such occurrences were limited practically to certain teams in New South Wales. "The men have learned to play the man, not the ball," he stated.

Arms Conference When Reparations Plan is Success

Plymouth, Vermont, Aug. 22.—President Coolidge regards the final settlement of the reparations problem as the paramount world problem and until the Dawes plan is finally put into operation he does not consider the time appropriate for the calling of another arms conference. Fear of invasion and attack must be removed from the relations between European nations, he says. Likewise, Mr. Coolidge thinks inquiries of foreign nations as to their war debts due this country should await complete settlement of the reparations problem.

TIMES' FOREMAN PRINTER DIES

Richard H. McMillan, Pioneer Printer, Succumbs to Lingering Illness

Richard Henry McMillan, for four years night foreman on The Times printing staff, passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday afternoon after a lingering illness. The late Mr. McMillan was a pioneer of Victoria, coming here sixty years ago as a child of six from Bowmanville, Ont., where he was born. Later he entered in the job printing business on Fort Street with his father, who subsequently was made sheriff. After being employed with some of the earlier papers published in Victoria, Mr. McMillan became foreman of The Colonist plant, leaving that concern four years ago to join The Times mechanical staff as night foreman. Three months ago illness necessitated his entry into hospital, culminating in his death last evening.

During the whole of his long life in Victoria, the late Mr. McMillan made many friends who will share with his colleagues on The Times a sincere regret at his passing and sincere sympathy with his daughter, Mona, in Los Angeles, and his sister, Mrs. M. H. Watkins, who survive him.

The funeral will take place from the E.C. Funeral Chapel on Saturday at 3.30. There passed away at Sidney on Thursday, August 21, Joseph Sale Bradford, of Nanaimo, aged forty-two years. He was a native of England but had lived at Nanaimo for the past twenty years, and is survived by Mrs. Bradford. The remains are resting at McCall Bros' Funeral Home, from where they will be forwarded on Sunday morning to Nanaimo, where interment will be made.

The death took place at a late hour last evening at the Royal Jubilee Hospital of Mrs. Emily McConnell, aged forty-seven years. The late Mrs. McConnell had been ill for some time, and for the last thirty years, and was a member of Carle Rebekah Lodge, No. 410 O.G. She is survived by a husband, two sons, Norman and Ernest, also one brother, Thomas, of Hamilton, Ont. The funeral will take place Monday at 3 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Interment will be made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

CANADIAN CLUB HEARTILY GREETS MAJOR MACLAREN

On August 2 we set out from Oost Kanchak up the last stage of our flight. The weather was cloudy, with a fairly strong northerly wind blowing, but no fog in the vicinity. We had 130 miles sea crossing in front of us. When within forty or fifty miles of our destination, the fog became so solid that we were forced to fly at a height of fifty feet above the water, and as we neared the coast the fog dropped lower and lower until we were flying just a few feet above the water, visibility of not more than fifty yards; this at a speed of over 100 miles per hour. Suddenly, as if by magic, a black object loomed up straight in front of us, and only a quick swerve saved us from crashing into the 150-foot high cliffs of a small island.

By this time we were almost in a state of nervous prostration, as at any moment the cliffs of Bering Island might loom up in front of us, and we should be unable to turn in time, so decided to land in the open sea, although there was quite a heavy sea running. With great judgment, handled the machine perfectly, but just after we had touched the water a large wave caught our wing tip, sent the machine into a spin, and buried the end of the wing under water, causing the machine to swing suddenly around, and with a sickening crash the port wing-tip broke up, and the sea catching the other smashed that.

We taxied slowly northward for three hours until we saw land half a mile off, where the poor old machine slowly was broken up by the waves. So this was the end of our attempt. Lieut.-Governor W. C. Nichol declared none present had ever heard a more modest address, touched with humor, as that of Major MacLaren's speech. "I have never before heard any address which so vividly portrayed the perils of the air."

"It is all very well to class this effort as sport, it is more than that. It should be recognized by the Home Government as service of great value. I would ask you all to join with me in tendering our sincerest thanks to Major MacLaren for his address," he said amid applause.

President Patrick then presented the thanks of the club with the best wishes of Victoria.

Charged before Magistrate Jay in City Police Court this morning with illegal possession of liquor, George McEwan was remanded for hearing on August 25.

Major MacLaren had nothing but scorn for the breath of suspicion raised against the failure of Major Martin on the frozen peninsula in the North. "Any man," he said, "flying under those conditions is a bundle of nerves. To hint that he struck a slope and not a mountain, is a crying shame. To a man, with his life in his hands, suddenly seeing land rise up under his feet any rise would look like a mountain. I would have thought the same my- self and I think it is a downright shame that such a suggestion should ever have been raised."

PERSONAL THANKS
Though official receptions en route will delay his progress somewhat, Major MacLaren is en route to the East to welcome in person the American flyers, whose rival he is, and to want to thank them for what they did for me in India, and all along the line, and to tell them what I think of them. They are thorough sportsmen and I want to be on hand to tell them that in person, as my wife did for me in London.

TWO PLANES
To make the North Pacific flight practicable, two fast planes, one at each end, would be necessary, states Major MacLaren, and it would be folly to attempt it otherwise. Isolation finished what fog began, and with the hardest part of the route over the flight terminated. Canada, with 3000 miles of well founded landing places, and the Atlantic passage via the Azores, as planned by Major MacLaren, is "one long hop which presents little difficulty to a careful navigator," alone remained before a return to continental soil and established flying fields.

FLYING HISTORY
Despite the misfortune of his present position Major MacLaren has made flying history. In the war he went to Egypt as a flying officer, joining 14 Squadron, R.F.C. at Kanchak, and assisting in the push which drove the Turks back into Palestine. Later he was given signals honors, being placed in command of a detached flight at the Gulf of Aden, where he operated against raiding there and at Somaliland. Here he was joined by Flying Officer Plenderleith. Sergeant Andrews, the other member of the original party that started from Calshot came under Major MacLaren's eye at Halton a flying field, later, in England.

In 1918 Major MacLaren piloted a flight from England to Karachi, flying a wartime model Handley-Paige machine, incidentally opening up a mail route that may see further use as the years go by. Sensitive to the loss of his own hopes, but first to congratulate the success of his competitors Major MacLaren forms himself, perhaps one of the most outstanding examples of sportsmanship shown in the great adventure. His story is one of the heroism and endurance of his party, rather than of himself, and it is with diffidence that he shares in the flight can be coaxed out of him. A rousing welcome was given both flying officers on arrival here this morning.

STORY OF FLIGHT
MacLaren hopped off from Calshot on March 25. Even the starting was under bad circumstances for, in crossing to France they met fog. With rain and fog there was no chance at the way across Europe. Finally, owing to engine trouble, a forced landing was made at a lake in Corfu. They were lucky there for it was the only possible landing place within two hundred miles. Seventeen days was spent at Corfu awaiting a new engine.

The trip up to India was fairly easy but on the first day in India engine trouble again developed. It was necessary to land in the desert and again wait for a new engine. Everything went well until they reached Akyab, Burma, where they were unfortunate enough to run into monsoons. Rain came down in torrents and the machine became water-logged. The attempt was made to hop off, the machine would not stay in the air and in coming down so much damage was done that it was impossible to carry on.

UNITED STATES HELP
United States destroyers rushed a spare machine from Tokyo and were not satisfied with doing that but also assembled it when they arrived at Akyab, thus saving the most sporting thing that could possibly have been done," said MacLaren.

Three months after having left England, a fresh start was made from Akyab on June 25, two months having been wasted on account of delays. Between Akyab and Rangoon they passed the American flyers in the air, thus missing an opportunity which he looked forward to meeting them. It was stiff flying from there on with rain and clouds making it difficult to pass over mountains. The whole trip was exciting and adventurous. Two-thirds of the way between Siam and Indo-China they ran into high mountains, thick clouds and "green hell" beat down on them. They were forced to fly higher and higher above the clouds. Not being able to see below, if anything had gone wrong it would have meant certain death. Finally they came through a gap but found themselves over a jungle which was hemmed in by mountains. After circling around for about half an hour they picked what appeared to be an open clearing and dropped down with a view to landing. When ten or twelve feet above the ground, it was fortunate they looked down once more for they found that what had appeared to be a promising landing place was such a swamp with the water glistening through the long grass. There were herds of elephants and deer there, which dashed into the jungle when the machine approached. They were just about to give themselves up as lost when Providence gave a hole in the clouds which they could see through. "We went forward over the clouds and, when at last we landed safely I can say we most certainly shot through on it," remarked the aviator.

HONGKONG RECEPTION
Haiphong was safely passed and arriving at Hongkong there was a tremendous reception. Crossing from Shanghai to Japan they reached Tokyo, where there was a few days' rest from flying. Then the real stage of the journey was embarked upon.

The first day from Tokyo there was much fog and four stops were made. After the second stop, however, masses of fog. Bad weather came up so quickly the pilot had a bad time getting down. After landing in the water, they got to shore after four attempts. There were three inhabitants at this particular place and they did everything they could to help them. They were very kind with difficulty that they kept the machine off the shore. Finally it was decided to take the machine to a little island and make for shelter. A tent was pitched on the shore but a storm came up which made things most miserable. The tent was swamped and they got into a small hut, and spent a week there. There was fog, fog, fog, and being out of communication, there was naturally great anxiety for their safety. A Japanese destroyer at last found them and gave assistance till it was possible to get away again.

FINAL CRASH
All the way up the Kuriles it was a condition of thick fog, conditions in which engine failure would have meant certain death. At last they arrived safely at Petropavlovsk and found there good friends, the Thielpval. They attempted to start the next day from Petropavlovsk, but were forced back and had to land in the sea on account of a steamer being in their mooring place. Minor damage was done and after this was repaired, there was further delay from fog and bad weather. They got away but had to land on the east coast of Kamchatka instead of reaching Nikolai. The final stage was through thick fog which necessitated flying close to the water. Before they knew it they had almost run into a small island. Knowing that they were near land and being afraid of hitting it, they tried to make a landing on the rough sea. In a big swell the wings were smashed and the next three hours were spent trying to get to shore, which at last they safely reached and beached the machine near Nikolai.

"It was the most unfortunate place at which such a thing could have happened," said Major MacLaren. It was no possible landing place. There was no possibility of making repairs. So that was the end of the second machine and we had to give up the job to our great disappointment. With all our hopes ended, I may say that I sat on the beach and wept bitterly, and the others felt as badly as I did. The Thielpval came along and picked us up and here we are."

EXTRA POLICE AT TRIAL IN CHICAGO

and then for twenty additional officers.

WOMEN FAINTED
Women fainted, clothing was torn and several persons were reported injured in the struggle. The judge held back the start of Mr. Darrow's address for half an hour until the crowd was cleared. Then he ordered all visitors expelled from the building.

JUDGE'S FRIENDS
There are four of your honor's friends out here, judge," reported a bailiff. "Let them stay out; they are late," said Judge Caverly.

"PRESS" ENTERED
Then the harassed officer said he could not persuade "the press" to clear the corridor. "Oh, let newspapermen pass in and out," said the judge.

A roar of laughter swept judges, spectators, attorneys and defendants as the portals swung open and "the press" entered in the person of a messenger boy, his hair awry, collar untied and face red, but with a triumphant grin on his face.

MONEY A HANDICAP
Money was the big handicap of the defence, said Mr. Darrow in his address to the judge.

"People were given extravagant stories, and we suffered from them," he said. "I have heard nothing in the last month but the cry for blood. Nothing breathed from the state attorney's office but the breath of hate."

MILLWORK BODY IS IN SESSION

Holds Quarterly Meeting in Victoria, Extending Over Two Days

Delegates to the third quarterly meeting of the Pacific Northwest Millwork Association arrived this afternoon for three sessions in this city, to be followed by a dinner on Saturday evening. First to arrive was G. A. Aetzel of Olympia, accompanied by his wife. Some of those attending were Clark W. Thompson, Oscar Engstrom, Elmer Vogue, Thomas Greenleaf, F. E. Acteson, George Nordquist, W. H. Borrow, secretary-treasurer; John Parke, J. B. Travers and Ralph Uphus. Messrs. Thompson and Aetzel are directors, Mr. Travers is State Vocational Supervisor at Olympia, and Mr. Uphus is to read a paper tomorrow morning.

The delegates will be the guests of the Victoria members during their stay, an invitation to hold the quarterly meeting here having been extended by E. W. Whittington at the last meeting.

At the session this afternoon Mayor Hayward welcomed the delegates, and the two chief features were the president's message, by C. E. Cowdin, and the secretary-treasurer's report by W. H. Borrow.

Two business sessions will be held tomorrow.

No Empire Fair at Wembley Next Year

London, Aug. 22.—Replies have now been received from all the Dominion except Newfoundland, unanimously opposing the suggested continuance of the Empire Exhibition at Wembley in 1925. Discontinuance was urged mainly on the ground of expense incurred in maintaining staffs and renewing exhibits.

ITALIAN AIRMAN MISSING WHILE U.S. FLIERS PREPARE TO CONTINUE JOURNEY

Lieut. Smith added to his reputation as a skillful air navigator by landing at Frederiksdal at 6.30 o'clock, Greenwich Mean Time, nine hours and fifty-five minutes after taking off from Reykjavik. Lieut. Nelson landed at 7.35 o'clock, requiring eleven hours for the trip. While the hop from Reykjavik of 825 miles was probably not the greatest performance of the world fliers, it is considered a real feat because of the conditions encountered. Last night the aviators were resting at the little fishing and trading village of Frederiksdal within measurable distance of their immediate goal, Continental America.

ENCOUNTERED FOG
The fliers left Reykjavik with fuel sufficient to last them thirteen hours under calm conditions, hoping that if the weather were perfect they might be able to make Iqviut, on the west coast of Greenland. They estimated they would take about ten hours for the Frederiksdal hop. The weather conditions were perfect except for the last 150 miles. The planes were not seen by the cruiser Raleigh, stationed near Frederiksdal because of the dense fog near the coast.

Tokio, Aug. 22.—Major Pedro Zanni, the Argentine flier whose aeroplane was irreparably damaged when he attempted to start from Hanoi, French Indo-China, for Canton, has decided to continue his flight. A reserve plane which has been held at Kobe will be shipped to him at Hanoi.

The spare plane arrived at Kobe from London aboard the liner Kamo Maru and will be immediately shipped, probably on the same company's liner Wakasa Maru, which is to leave Kobe tomorrow.

Zanni, telegraphing Garcia Uribe, the Argentine Minister, gave him the first news of the whereabouts of the plane and ordered it sent immediately to Haiphong, the port of Hanoi.

It is estimated that it will be two or three weeks before Zanni will be able to resume his flight. Experts here consider that the transpacific flight would be most difficult at this season of the year. The flight along the Kuriles would not be the worst part of the trip, although the fogs are heavy, but the Aleutian Islands during the autumn northeast winds are believed to be virtually impassable.

AUSTRALIAN PLAN FOR IMMIGRATION

Melbourne, Aug. 22 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—Negotiations between the Commonwealth and British Governments with regard to the details of the new migration agreement between them are still in progress. It is generally understood the British Government will advance £34,000,000, including £14,000,000 arranged for under the existing agreement, and will share half the interest thereon for the first seven years and one-third of the interest thereafter.

In the meantime there is little activity in assisted migration between Great Britain and Australia. Only one settler has arrived in New South Wales under the Government's agreement providing for 50,000 immigrants. Apparently it still is difficult to obtain settlers possessing the minimum sum of £300 capital which the New South Wales Government stipulates each new settler must have. The Sydney Sun criticizes the severity of the medical examination which prospective immigrants must pass. Australia does not ask for "supermen." The Sun says, "but just good healthy average British people."

SIR FREDERICK FIELD SPOKE IN OTTAWA

He and Officers of Empire Squadron Guests at State Dinner

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field, commander of the British Special Naval Service Squadron, speaking at a dinner given in honor of himself and his fellow officers here last evening by the Minister of National Defence, said that if he was any judge of human character, Canada in an emergency would respond as she responded in 1914, but he would remind his hearers that it took three years to build a ship and nine years to train the crew to man her.

TRADE ROUTES

Sir Frederick pointed out that the duty of a main fleet was to go to any position where the enemy's main fleet might be. The whole defence of the seas depended on holding back the enemy's main force, and with reductions in the navy it would be impossible to prevent an enterprising enemy from sending commando raiders out to attack the Empire's trade routes. It would only be possible to send what was left over from the main fleet to defend these trade routes, which were vital for continuing the war.

PREMIER SPOKE

"The Canadian naval service," said Premier King, "is new blood in the great naval power which has meant so much in the history of the world. But should a critical situation ever arise, I think the new blood in any department of our national life may be expected to do its part in a manner which will do credit to the whole world."

Sir Robert Borden said he would have liked to see some of the public men in Great Britain accompany the Special Service Squadron on its cruise and learn a little more than they seemed to know about the British Commonwealth.

The adjoining suite will be occupied by Lord and Lady Louis Mountbatten, who will accompany him. Lord Mountbatten being a cousin of the Prince. His equerries and attendants will distribute themselves in rows bordering on the royal heir's quarters.

SHIP PREPARED

All the passengers of the Berengaria will benefit from the Prince's trip, for the entire ship has been cleaned inside and out, flowers and plants decorate the saloons and passages, and the personnel has been completely outfitted in new uniforms.

NINE AT TABLE

The Prince will not dine in the general dining-room, but a table will be placed in an alcove off the balcony of the saloon, set for the nine members of the Prince's party, who are entitled by invitation to sit around the board.

Chairs and spaces on deck outside the gymnasium and ballroom will be the most popular with the passengers, for it is expected they will get their most frequent glimpses of the Prince in these localities.

FEW TRUNKS

The Prince's wardrobe has been limited to three trunks and some smaller luggage. It is understood he will not appear in uniform at any time during the trip, but in the three trunks are sufficient clothes to spread new styles for men throughout the country.

MANY DEBUTANTES

The Prince's trip this time will lack the exclusiveness of his first visit, which was made in a British battleship, for the capacity of the Berengaria has been packed by debutantes, who for various reasons are cutting short their European trips to hurry homeward on this particular liner.

These marriageable daughters will leave behind several hundred disappointed Americans who have been turned away from the shipping officers in the last four or five weeks, since the liner's accommodations for 700 saloon passengers were all taken, and who constitute the largest list of expectant ones awaiting possible last-minute cancellations.

TO VISIT RANCH

After witnessing the international polo matches at Meadowbrook, Long Island, the Prince will proceed to his ranch in Alberta, where the larger part of his time in Canada and the United States will be spent.

SEASON'S ADVANCE ON MARS OBSERVED

Astronomers at Flagstaff, Arizona, Tell Results of Their Studies

Prof. A. S. Eddington Describes Mars. Wireless Attempts as Nonsense

Flagstaff, Ariz., Aug. 22.—Many of the observed phenomena of Mars are similar to those one would expect to see in corresponding season activities on different parts of our own planet if viewed from space as we observe Mars, said a formal statement issued last night from Lowell Observatory.

"The average temperature of Mars is about 43 degrees Fahrenheit, and such a figure seems to be in reasonable accord with observed phenomena," the statement said.

"The morning side of the planet is at a lower temperature than the afternoon side, which has been longer exposed to the sun's rays. The dark regions show higher temperature readings than the light ones and a gradual rise in temperature is recorded on the surface of the southern hemisphere, where Summer is now advancing."

"Extensive visual and photographic observations have revealed very interesting and extensive cloud phenomena, melting of south polar caps and widespread changes in Martian surface features, seasonal and otherwise."

"Wireless attempts now being made in the United States to establish radio communication with Mars were branded as 'absolute nonsense' by Professor A. S. Eddington, the world-renowned astronomer of Cambridge University, here last night. Professor Eddington is with the members of the British Association for the Advancement of Science now traveling to the British Columbia coast after their annual meeting in Toronto.

"The whole thing is too absurd for words," said the professor. "Even if Mars was inhabited and the people there could understand our signals, there is no possibility of crossing the vast space between the atmosphere of the two planets. Sound waves cannot travel within the earth's atmosphere and can not pierce its bounds."

Scientists knew enough about Mars, Professor Eddington declared, to know that human life as the Earth knows it is out of the question. "Although the climatic conditions are temperate," he said, "the planet has been burning for many thousands of years and no serious person can imagine the existence of animal life of any form."

GREAT WAR WOULD BRING MASSACRES

Industrial Centres Would be Destroyed, With Great Loss of Life

Probabilities Outlined by Sub-committee of League of Nations

Paris, Aug. 22.—Poison gas holds its old war terrors, but the bugaboo of microbes is not an imminent danger, according to the report of the League of Nations sub-committee appointed by the Temporary Mixed Commission for the Reduction of Armaments to consider the progress in chemical warfare as to war the world what was really meant.

The report was based largely on detailed statements given the sub-committee by the leading chemical experts of the world. They agreed in general that microbes were too difficult to spread, and that preventives were too adequate to make bacteriological warfare a menace of the near future.

Poison gases, however, the composite report of the experts' opinions said, had increased from thirty known at the outbreak of the war to 600; but fortunately nothing more efficient than the thirty had yet been discovered.

Nevertheless, Professor W. Z. Cannon of Harvard reported: "We saw nothing during the last war comparable to the probable destruction of industrial centres and the massacre of civil populations in the event another important conflict occurs."

Farm Progress on Prairies Amazing, Says Sir J. Russell

Winnipeg, Aug. 22.—A future of hope for the farmers of Western Canada was the forecast of Sir John Russell, president of the agricultural section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, during an interview here last night. "The progress of agriculture on the prairies has been astounding, and while difficulties will occur, no one need be discouraged," he said.

"Canadian agriculture has been built up in fifty years, while it has taken a thousand years to establish agriculture in the United Kingdom on its present scale of efficiency."

Sir John was not alarmed by the present rust situation. "Rust will disappear directly the proper variety of wheat is grown, and this will only be discovered by practical experiments. We have almost eliminated rust in Great Britain in this way," he declared.

ANN LUTHER MAY CONTINUE LAWSUIT

Los Angeles, Aug. 22.—Indications that Ann Luther, movie actress, would re-open her fight for $100,000 for alleged breach of contract against Jack F. White, wealthy mining man, came from Superior Judge J. M. York's court here to-day when the court granted the filing of a stipulation continuing the litigation for the actress to present a bill of exception to the recent decision in which her suit was thrown out of court.

Her attorneys are given until September 13 to prepare the necessary papers.

IRRIGATION PLANS WILL BE DECIDED

Arbitration Hearings Will Affect Rio Grande Works in New Mexico

Denver, Col., Aug. 22.—In an effort to permit relaxation of a reclamation service decree virtually tying up irrigation development on the upper reaches of the Rio Grande, the Rio Grande Commission will begin a series of hearings early in September at points between Alamosa, Col., and El Paso, Texas.

Secretary of Commerce Herbert E. Hoover will represent the United States Government as mediator. The party will include representatives of the Federal Government and the State Governments of Colorado and New Mexico. The trip will be made by motor and hearings will be held at probably twenty points along the river. They will be attended by river commissioners and engineering experts.

STARTED IN 1903

Development of the upper portions of the Rio Grande above the Elephant Butte dam project dates from 1903, when the Mexican government protested to the United States that development in southern Colorado and northern New Mexico was robbing the Juarez district of its water supply. This difficulty was ironed out three years later when, by an international treaty, the United States agreed to deliver 60,000 acre feet of water annually to the Juarez section. The Mexican government renounced all further rights to the waters of the Rio Grande.

However, to provide for the stipulated amount of water, it was necessary for the Federal Government to institute the Elephant Butte project, which tied up further development above that point. Since that time, with the exception of small reservoirs and work on old grant lands, no development has been permitted, the reclamation service holding that waters of all western streams were the property of the Government to use as it saw fit.

This decree brought strong protests, especially from the San Luis Valley water users in Colorado, who will be represented in the hearings by engineers and attorneys. The Government remained firm in its stand to prevent additional development. The hearings will be held, according to the plan.

ing to Delph E. Carpenter, Colorado River Commissioner, to prevent the recurrence of the series of incidents that made necessary the drafting of the "Colorado River pact," which is yet unratified by the State of Arizona.

DEVELOPMENT POSSIBLE

Reports compiled by engineers working under the direction of the river commissioners of Colorado and New Mexico indicate there is sufficient flow normally to permit further development. Charts purport to show that for the last seventy-five years there has been, except at one period, more than enough water to take care of the Elephant Butte dam. The hearings are designed to determine to a large extent the amount of development that can be allowed in the restricted regions.

Two additional treaties are being considered by Colorado authorities, one to settle a controversy of long standing between Kansas and Colorado regarding the use of the Arkansas River, the other a tri-state pact among Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado, with the Government as a fourth party, to define the uses of the North Platte River.

Human Hair Used

As Dress Trimming

A new use has been found in England for the tresses worn by women who have bobbed or shingled their hair. According to a report from London human hair is now being used by some women with bizarre tastes in dress to decorate their coat sleeves, cuffs and even their blouses.

One woman, seen in Piccadilly created something of a sensation when she appeared in a long black coat which had the edges of the collar trimmed with auburn hair. The cuffs were similarly adorned, while more human hair hung from the edge of her cream-colored blouse.

Monkey fur, which was for a time the rage, promises to be ousted by the new fashion.

FLANNEL DANCE

Annual Function to Take Place at Chamber of Commerce August 28

The Victoria Amateur Swimming

Club will hold a flannel dance on Thursday next, August 28, at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium.

Owing to the splendid success of the flannel dance held in August last year the club has decided to make it an annual affair.

One of the best orchestras in the city has been obtained for the occasion and coupled with this, a large introduction committee has been arranged to make everyone acquainted.

If the effort and enthusiasm shown by the members mean anything, this dance should go down in the annals of the club as one of the best they have ever held.

Following the musical portion of the programme a buffet lunch was served, many local members of the Canadian Daughters' League being

guests of the assembly.

Kumtuku Picnic—Members of the Kumtuku Club attending the picnic at the Summit house, home of Miss

Price at Prospect Lake to-morrow are requested to make the journey

by the B.C. Interurban train leaving

Douglas Street at 1.30 or 1.30, and alighting at Prospect, turn to the left along the road to the lake to Miss

Price's home.

NATIVE DAUGHTER OF
NANAIMO WEDMiss Cecilia Hawthornthwaite Married Yesterday to
J. Spooner

Nanaimo, Aug. 22.—St. Paul's Church was the scene of a pretty wedding at high noon yesterday, when Miss Cecilia Eros Hawthornthwaite, daughter of J. H. Hawthornthwaite of Victoria and Mrs. Hawthornthwaite, this city, was united in marriage to Mr. John Spooner, formerly of Vancouver, but now of Longview, Washington. Rev. S. Ryall performed the ceremony, and the church was lavishly decorated with cut flowers and foliage. The bride, who is a granddaughter of Mark Bate Sr., Nanaimo's first mayor, approached the altar on the arm of her brother, Mr. William Hawthornthwaite, wearing a beautiful dress of shimmering ivory satin with pearl trimming, a richly embroidered veil and orange blossoms besides a hoop of rhinestones that kept the veil in place. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and pale pink sweet peas.

There were three bridesmaids, Miss Nora Hawthornthwaite, sister of the bride, gowned in peach georgette, trimmed with pearl embroidery, and a picture hat of the same hue, with ostrich trimming, and the Misses Louis Bate and Gwendolyn Hawthornthwaite in powder blue voile frocks with shower bouquets and silver head wear of silver flowers. Mr. Archie Findlayson acted as best man.

During the signing of the register Mrs. W. F. Drysdale sang "At Dawning" and a reception to sixty guests was held at the bride's former home, Newcastle Townsite, after the ceremony. Mrs. Hawthornthwaite, mother of the bride, wore a gown of cocoa Canton crepe trimmed with bronze and gold beads, and a picture hat of cocoa duvetyne trimmed with ostrich feathers.

Mr. and Mrs. Spooner left on the afternoon boat for Vancouver en route to Seattle, Ore., where the honeymoon will be spent, after which they will take up their residence in Longview.

Russian Artists

Delighted Native

Sons' Assembly

The Stankevich trio of clever

Russian artists celebrated their official entry into Canada, permission for which was received from the immigration authorities yesterday, by appearing before the Victoria Assen-sion. The trio, consisting of the Native Sons of Canada, last evening in the society's hall, and rendering a programme which adequately proved the versatility of these gifted children. In their pianoforte solos Ella and Mina each displayed a technique rarely acquired by many professional performers, and the violin solo by Aaron, aged nine, could only be described as an unusual musical treat.

Following the musical portion of the programme a buffet lunch was served, many local members of the

Canadian Daughters' League being

guests of the assembly.

Participant in Interesting
Event at Seattle

A golden and a silver wedding were celebrated at the home of Thomas Torrance, 408 Twenty-eighth Avenue South, Seattle, recently, the groom, father and son, both being married on the same day, twenty-five years apart. Thomas Torrance, and Thomas Torrance Jr. were the recipients of warm congratulations from a host of friends, the latter named crossing from this city to take part in the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Torrance, who celebrated their silver wedding, reside at 2510 Blackwood Street, here.

Thomas Torrance, the elder, was married in Lanarkshire, Scotland, to Jean McDonald, on July 14, 1874. His son was married to Mary McArthur, also in Scotland, on his father's silver anniversary. The two couples celebrated with a banquet and reunion of friends at the Seattle home of Mr. Torrance Sr.

The elder Mr. Torrance has been active in labor circles in Seattle, where he has resided for the past five years. For three years he was president of the Seattle Shipyard Laborers' Riggers' and Fasteners' Union, and a director of the Co-operative Store. Twelve children were born, five of whom are living. Three grandchildren and three great grandchildren are numbered. This great grandfather works every day as a landscape gardener.

After the celebration Mr. and Mrs. Torrance of Victoria left for a trip to California points. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Torrance Jr. joined them here for a family reunion in honor of the double anniversary.

Selwyn Davis, only son of the late Mr. H. A. Davis and Mrs. Davis, 231 St. Andrew Street. The bride was attended by Miss Irene McLean of Vancouver, while the groom was supported by Mr. F. G. Hart. Mr. and Mrs. Davis are at present visiting in the Sound cities and on their return will make their home in Victoria.

This afternoon at her home on Rockland Avenue, Mrs. L. W. S. Cockburn entertained at a delightful children's party in honor of her son, Master Peter Cockburn, whose seventh birthday was being celebrated. Prior to tea, games were played on the lawn. Among the children present were the Misses Edith and Diana Cobbett, K. Mackay, Gwendolyn Thomas, George and Frances Gregory, Jimmy Codville, Ian McPherson, Sandy Tait, Trevor Davis, Ian Ross, Hoadley Mitchell, Teddy Eberts, Donald Lawson, Jim Davis, Sidney Paget, Billy Lovell, Bobby Drummond-Hay, Eric Book, Pat Patterson, Katharine Shop, Jack Todd, "Boy" Studd, John Yarrow and David Angus.

Guests registered at Strathcona Lodge, Shawanigan Lake, during the past week include Miss Evelyn Sheagreen, Miss Ruth Ruark, Mr. Renwick, Mr. D. Renwick, Miss M. Renwick, Miss A. Renwick, Mrs. Stewart, the Misses Stewart, Mr. A. S. Kilham, Mr. J. Simmons, Mrs. A. M. Balfour, Miss M. D. Balfour, Mrs. A. Sullivan, Master Sullivan, Mrs. Arthur Ray, Mr. A. PROMINENT ACTOR PASSING THROUGH ON WAY TO EAST

A. J. Herbert, Well-known in London and New York, Was Visitor

Among the passengers on board the R.M.S. Makura this morning was A. J. Herbert, prominent actor of the stage and screen, who is on his way to New York, there to fulfil a contract with the Selwyn Company of that city. He has been before the public ever since he was eight years of age, he told The Times representative this morning. He was the first male to take the role of Little Lord Fauntleroy in the famous play of that name, and at that time was but a boy on the English stage.

He is also an actor of distinction in the silent drama having acted opposite Miss Alice Brady and with Billie Burke, wife of Fio Ziegfeld, of Ziegfeld Follies fame. He has acted under Fox and Griffith and has wide popularity on the London and New York stage.

Mr. Herbert was visiting Melbourne, where he was born and renewing old acquaintances. But his work in New York calls him back. After seventeen years of activity on the American continent he is a person mightily in demand, and is particularly a leading figure in the heavier roles.

Mr. Herbert took the part of Jerry in "The Fool," that masterful production of the pen of Channing Pollock, eminent American playwright, and in this won high praise from critics.

Speaking of the Australian stage of to-day, he said that in his opinion it had deteriorated somewhat from its old-time height of perfection. There were indications of the same slump in the stage drama all over the world, he found, and Australia was no exception. In Canada, he said, there was very little of the "stage" to be seen at all, and this particularly was the case in the West.

Like many other actors of his time he found that the motion picture stage was more remunerative than that of the legitimate drama. But his learning were all towards the latter, he said, where the greater ability was required and from which the best and most-to-be-desired results were derived.

Vancouver Harbor Board is to Have New Superintendent

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—R. E. Beattie, a member of the Vancouver Board of Harbor Commissioners, announces that he has resigned the general superintendency owing to ill-health. Kenneth J. Burns of this city will succeed him as general superintendent, it is understood.

Mr. Beattie will retain his place on the Harbor Board.

In Three Voyages Makura Had Three Men in Command

On the R.M.S. Makura this morning Capt. A. C. Showman was in command. This is the skipper's first voyage on the ship and he takes the place of Capt. A. E. Barlow, who brought the vessel to Canada on her last voyage. Previously the Makura was commanded by Capt. Robert Crawford, who has gone to England to talk over the new motorship Aorangi, and when she is commissioned he will command her between Australian and Canadian ports, for the Union Steamship Company.

Capt. Showman has been with the Union Steamship Company many years, but previously has been in charge of their big freighters for the most part. But he brought his ship into port this morning after making excellent time across the Pacific.

The crew can tell a wonderfully interesting story of adventure.

It was the duty of the Thiepval to establish through the northern sea a series of bases and supply points for the British plane, which was endeavoring to circumnavigate the globe, in charge of Major MacLaren, and piloted by Flying Officer William Penderic. When this had been accomplished after the most trying experiences, the Thiepval preceded the aviators to Oest, which was the first step in the trans-Pacific flight. It was the next hop which proved the test for the aviators, and the Thiepval was the scene of the disaster which shattered the Britons' hopes of encircling the globe.

JAPS TAG TOO

During the voyage the Thiepval was docked at Hakodate, Japan. The programme of entertainment there included three soccer games, in which the Canadians were victorious. One day, when the sailors from the Thiepval went ashore, they met great activity and commotion on the streets. There was a real tag day in progress and the sailors obligingly bought large quantities of tags from the smiling Japanese upon the street corners. On the tags were Japanese characters.

It was not until after they had returned to their ship that the sailors learned that they had been participating in an anti-American demonstration. Through an interpreter it was found that the tags were labeled, "Down with the Americans."

HAKODATE

The crew of the Thiepval also secured at Hakodate, a little brown bear, which bears the name of the city which was its home. Its chief source of enjoyment is to have one of its sailor friends hold a can of condensed milk level with his shoulder and gently allow its contents to pour downwards in a thin stream. The bear, which is nothing more than a round, fat, fuzzy ball of playfulness, will stretch upwards on his small hind legs and never miss a drop of the precious liquid. He is a great pet with the seamen and officers.

There is another bear aboard the Thiepval. This, a Russian animal, little older than its Japanese cousin, is as cross as its companion is agreeable. It snaps at people, bites whenever it gets the chance, and is generally a very obnoxious bear. But Hakodate is a shining example of good behavior and the Russian bear may profit and sometime become a well behaved playmate.

WEATHERED STORMS

The Thiepval is a sturdy and staunch sea boat. This fact has been undeniably proved by its journey through the northern waters on the trip from Nanzen Bay to Kulk Bay the Thiepval met a Norwegian steamer, of 8,000 tons. Both boats were laboring in the terrific seas. The Norwegian skipper signalled the little Canadian craft that he was anxious to find shelter. The Thiepval led him into port.

Twice, between Dutch Harbor and Nanzen Bay the Thiepval was overwhelmed by the mountainous seas. In the ordinary course of events this voyage would have taken two days. As it was it took the ship eight.

Poor tubes allow air to seep through imperceptibly. Tubes made from one thickness of rubber will always have this fault, because it is impossible to detect flaws in thick rubber.

THEPIVAL SE BASES RE SUPPLY FOR PACIFIC JUMP

Returns Safely From Orient After Fighting Way Through Many Storms

After having been at sea for practically six months H.M.C.S. Thiepval returned yesterday afternoon to Esquimaux, arriving there at 1:30 o'clock from Vancouver, where she had carried the members of the British round-the-world aeroplane party, headed by Squadron Leader Stuart MacLaren. The Thiepval lies alongside the Government jetty in the Naval Dockyard, none the worse for her buffeting by storms of the Pacific.

The crew can tell a wonderfully interesting story of adventure. It was the duty of the Thiepval to establish through the northern sea a series of bases and supply points for the British plane, which was endeavoring to circumnavigate the globe, in charge of Major MacLaren, and piloted by Flying Officer William Penderic. The time used in Pacific standard, for the 12th Meridian west. It is counted from 6 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, above the average level of lower low water.

Equivalents.—To find the depth of water on the sill of the dry dock at any tide, add the height of the tide to the height of high water as above given.

Heavy weather and the strain of towing a boom of logs caused the tug Catherine M to founder four miles south of Umatilla Reef early yesterday, according to reports received here. The crew of three men were rescued by the United States lighthouse tender Heather, which had just visited a station at Umatilla Reef. The log boom was abandoned. The Catherine M was owned by the Spively Tug & Barge Company of Everett.

TWO MEN SENTENCED ON HI-JACK CHARGE

Two Years in Penitentiary Sequel to Raid at Pender Island

The sequel to the hi-jacking of the Canadian east boat Lilluna in a small bay on Pender Island this morning was heard in County Court today when P. Kelly and Charles Flueger, charged with the theft of $3,000 worth of liquor, were each committed to the penitentiary for two years, to date from to-day. The accused were represented by H. Jackson, and the Crown by J. E. Meredith, both Vancouver counsel.

The story told to the court was a daring raid made on the Canadian craft by two American speed boats. One craft nosed her way into port and turned around to return later, and the other sped past. On board the Lilluna was husky Canadian crew, but firearms make wise men out of daredevils, and the two men, handed over, the American craft swung around and shot like a streak out of the bay and so of sight.

Months rolled by, and then one of the two men, Kelly, was arrested by one of the men from the Lilluna, who went to the Provincial police with his story. Action followed in short order. Kelly and Flueger were arrested on suspicion of being the two implicated in the theft. Conviction and sentence followed the evidence given to-day.

PLUNGES OVERBOARD BUT IS BROUGHT IN BY PROMPT SAILORS

Man Aboard Makura Unexpectedly Leaves Ship During Night

When the Royal Mail liner Makura, of the Canadian-Australian line, Capt. A. C. Showman, docked here this morning at 10:45 o'clock, her passengers had a tale of unusual interest to relate. It appears that when the ship was about five hours out of Suva, and after the passengers had spent a strenuous day ashore, and the majority had retired for the night, a call of "Man Overboard!" startled all into action.

At 11:15 o'clock at night precisely the alarm was given. A man had been in the water some minutes at that time. No searchlight could pick out his whereabouts, but buoys were fired overhead with flares attached, which lighted up the surface of the sea. Fourteen minutes after the lifeboat, with its crew, hit the water, it was back in the davits again and the unfortunate who took the midnight plunge was stowed away in blankets, and settling down for a peaceful night.

There was no explanation of the accident. It was simply one of those unavoidable happenings which sometimes occur at sea.

The passengers were furnished with a little exciting diversion which added to the excitement of the trip. Otherwise the passage was uneventful. Perfect weather was encountered, and the vessel made excellent time, arriving here after twenty-three days at sea. This morning she was to arrive at William Head at 8 o'clock, but for Cape Flattery prevented her making port at the expected hour. The delay brought her into quarantine about 9 a.m. She was moored at the Rithet piers at 10:45 o'clock.

Capt. Showman stated that his ship would be on the present run for several more trips. What would become of her when the Se-Aorangi, now building, was ready for sea and under commission, he could not foresee. As far as he knew nothing definite was decided regarding the Makura. The probability was that the Makura would be placed on the San Francisco run. Capt. Showman is experiencing his first trip on the Makura.

The Makura brought 500 bags of mail from Australia and Honolulu, and a small allotment of cargo for Victoria. The greater part of the freight from her hold will be unloaded at Vancouver, and include a large shipment of pineapples from Hawaii, as well as produce from Australia.

IS PRE-EXISTENT IN HIS SECTION OF APPLIED CHEMISTRY

Jerome Alexander, eminent New York consulting chemist, and the leading authority in America on colloid chemistry and ultramicroscopy, arrived with his family to-day.

Mr. Alexander, who is a member of numerous technical societies, is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, in which capacity he has visited the British Association meeting at Toronto. He came on ahead of the special trains, staying off in the Rocky Mountain resorts, and has come to Victoria expressly for the purpose of comparing some records on observations of the tails of comets which have been secured at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory.

The visitor, who was twice chairman of the American committee of the Society of Chemical Industry, whose headquarters are in England, is now preparing a work on colloid chemistry in which 127 of the leading scientists of the world, representing all countries, are assisting in the preparation.

He will probably leave for the South to-morrow.

MORE FOREST FIRES THAN LAST YEAR

British Columbia has been visited by 1,421 forest fires so far this season, according to to-day's report on the fire situation issued by the forest branch of the Department of Lands.

Up until the same date in 1922 there had been 1,215 fires, involving a cost of $243,954 to cope with them. Last year the total of fires up to the corresponding date was 954, involving a fire-fighting cost of $115,616.

"There is still very need to exercise great caution with fire in the woods," the Chief Forester says.

How's Business?

This is the question asked us from all quarters—we answer—business is fine! Thanks to the confidence the people of Victoria are placing in us. We enjoy clean competition but we hate dirt, wherever found, so we never root in the mud, nor have we any complaints about those who do root—every man to his taste.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A total of 280 bags of mail for Canadian and United States points were brought in from Australia to-day by the liner Makura. Eight bags of letters and two bags of papers comprised the local mail.

The regular meeting of the City Police Commission will be held at 4:30 to-day, adjourned from last week owing to the absence then of Dr. Ernest Hall. Routine matters and a considerable list of communications are to be laid before the board.

Arrangements have been completed for the C.P.R. ball team to go up to Nanaimo on Sunday by the morning train. They will come back the same evening, as the down train will be held at Nanaimo for the team after their game with Courtenay. As a result of this it is expected that a large number of fans will make the trip with the team, their quest for the Island championship.

Joseph North wishes to thank the following firms for their assistance in connection with the entertainment of the ladies from the Aged Women's Home at the exhibition yesterday afternoon: Cameron and Calwell, Terry's, Posty Shop, Island Meat Market, Clays, Masters, Johnston's Tea Store and to the King's Daughters for taking care of the ladies on their arrival at the fair.

At a meeting of the Tourist Trade Group in the Chamber of Commerce to-day it was decided to urge upon the business men of this city the necessity of supporting in every way the drive for funds to further the work of the group in trying to bring to Victoria increasing numbers of tourists. Several members of the group spoke strongly upon this matter. The advisability of enlarging the present site of the motor camp here was discussed.

The meeting of the general committee handling the details of the Conservative picnic will be held to-night at the Campbell Building. The meeting will be under the chairmanship of L. A. Kirkpatrick. Those taking part in the sports are invited to examine the very fine collection of prizes on exhibition in Weller Bros. windows by courtesy of the manager. Not by any means the least of the attractions is the giving away of a new 1924 six-cylinder car, which will be in possession of the lucky ticketholder at the close of the day.

At the exhibition to be held at St. Mark's Hall on Saturday, the judges will be E. E. White, Department of Agriculture, for the fruit and vegetables, and Mr. and Mrs. Raven for the flowers and ladies' section. Entries can be received not later than 10 o'clock on the morning of the exhibition. During the afternoon ice cream and tea will be served by Mesdames Devoson, Little, Ferriman and Bullen. The committee has to thank the following for generous contributions to the prize list: His Honor the Lieut.-Governor, Saanich Council, Dr. Tolmie, M.P., Reeve Macnicol, Dr. Duke, Messrs. John Tolmie, McGregor, McHardy, Geo. Little, Nesbitt and Sweeney.

SOCIALIST LEADER SUPPORTS HERriot

Blum Tells French Chamber He Approves Reparations Scheme

Paris, Aug. 22.—The Chamber of Deputies today listened with slight surprise and alarm to alternate attacks and defence of the Dawes plan and Premier Herriot's negotiations at the recent London international conference. While the Premier at to-day's session interjected brief replies from time to time to his critics, yesterday's excitement had subsided and only the Communists relieved the monotony with occasional outbursts of vituperation.

The Socialist leader, Leon Blum, this afternoon upheld M. Herriot's work at the conference as the best of the best of the best. He agreed to keep high powered radio stations within their jurisdictions silent during August 22 and 23. It is not known to what extent the request will be met.

McCoy's DECLARED VICTIM OF PARALYSIS

Alienist Says Man Accused of Los Angeles Murder is Failing

Los Angeles, Aug. 22.—Death on the gallows for the living death of paralysis and total dementia were the twin portraits of despair held out to-day to Kid McCoy, once dapper prince of the prize ring, by the District Attorney, who expects to convict him of the murder of Mrs. Theresa W. Mors here August 12, and by the alienist whose testimony defence attorneys hope will aid him to escape the noose.

The prisoner's divorced eighth wife, Dugmar Dahlgren, a dancer, had hardly finished dealing his defence a body blow by repudiating a previous alibi volunteered to show he could not have been guilty of the murder when an alienist sent into his cell by defence attorneys reported that even if McCoy could prove his innocence of the crime he would fall victim within three years to complete paralysis and total dementia.

SUFFERS FROM PARALYSIS

According to the alienist, Dr. Cecil Reynolds, McCoy is "without question" suffering from paralysis—a form of dementia due to organic disease in the brain, and brought on in his cases by excessive addiction to alcohol and a blood infection of long standing.

Physically, too, the prisoner is but a pale reflection of his former self, says Dr. Reynolds, although, as is characteristic of paralytic victims, he is under the delusion that he is a "better man physically than he ever was."

In one respect, however, the report showed McCoy free of all delusion. "He knows he is broke; he has no delusions of wealth," said the witness.

NELSON CAMPAIGN ENDS TO-NIGHT WITH PREMIER FAVORED

Major Dick Burde Has Lively Meeting With Forty Orators Taking Part

Pooley's Attack on Premier's Grammar Considered Bad Break

Nelson, B.C., Aug. 22.—Both sides in the by-election campaign here are bringing to the fight to the hilt tonight in a torrent of political oratory, challenges and attacks.

Premier Oliver is generally conceded to be the winner over Harry Houston, the "Citizens' Party" candidate. The betting on the street is all strongly in favor of the Premier. The business men of the community and Nelson boosters are supporting him because his election is conceded to be in the interests of the city. They are being joined in the support of the Premier by the forces who refuse to take General McRae seriously and have not been inspired by Mr. Pooley.

Mr. Pooley's fierce attack on the Premier because of some of his grammar, some of his quaint and rural idioms, and for some of his English pronunciations is regarded as the greatest blunder of the campaign and a shocking exhibition of the lack of good taste. It is said here by many Conservatives that this break will likely do more to help the Premier's cause than any of his previous attacks.

Major R. J. Burde, Port Alberni, Independent member, was last night's attraction, forty orators of all stripes being in his audience. He declared that Labor men were with Premier Oliver at present on the eight-hour bill, but would drop their support if he voted against it.

JOINT DEBATE CALLED OFF

Challenges for a joint debate hurled at Premier Oliver by General McRae will not bring about a meeting between the two. After correspondence in which the Premier questioned the right of the Independent member to speak for the combined opposition, unless specifically nominated by Harry Houston, the candidate, he agreed to a meeting under conditions which in turn were not acceptable to the opposition side.

Major R. J. Burde, Port Alberni, Independent member, was last night's attraction, forty orators of all stripes being in his audience. He declared that Labor men were with Premier Oliver at present on the eight-hour bill, but would drop their support if he voted against it.

MR. POOLEY'S BAD BREAK

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—In its third editorial page column, The Vancouver Daily Province takes up the breach of good taste, which Harry Pooley has been guilty of in the Nelson campaign. The Province says: "R. H. Pooley, M.L.A., upon whom the English language has been chosen the occasion of the Nelson campaign for his first public appearance since that evening in August, 1923, when he occurred to his more tactful predecessor."

It is reported that he commenced his speech with a caustic remark to the effect that the Premier had used the word "mistake" in the public platform. That was a mistake, nothing could be more so, and the Premier, who is a leader with any pretensions to breadth of mind or depth of vision than such allusions.

A man's claim to the attention of his fellow men is not to be gained by such matters, and if it were, there would be very few reputations left. A review of the parliamentary transcripts of the speeches made at the recent conference of the province, their meaning is clear and that is the great affair.

In addressing his public in the bluff and homely language to which he has been accustomed all his life, the Premier displays a sincerity and a freedom from artificiality that more polished orators would do well to imitate. He may not always be right, indeed, it is possible that he is frequently wrong, but he is forceful, and one feels that his rate is never so convincingly of the truth of what he is saying. And that is more than half the battle."

CREWS OF SHIP LOST IN ARCTIC ARE SAFE

Men of Motorship Lady Kindersley Being Taken to Point Barrow

Men of Gasoline Schooner Arctic Already at That Place

Bremerton, Wash., Aug. 22.—All who were aboard the motorship Lady Kindersley of Vancouver, B.C., and the gasoline schooner Arctic, which were wrecked by ice in the Arctic Ocean this month, are safe, according to a message received here from the wireless station of the Puget Sound Navy Yard.

The navy station on St. Paul Island in the Bering Sea sent the message: "St. Paul said that he had been talking with Nome and that Nome had picked up news of the shipwrecked men by local radio."

The men of the Lady Kindersley, whom the steamer Boxer of the United States Bureau of Education had been trying to take to the Nome-St. Paul radio message to be on their way to Point Barrow, the northern tip of Alaska, in the vicinity of which both vessels came to disaster while on annual trading cruises.

The men of the Arctic had reached Barrow when the message was sent from Nome.

Musical Education of Children IS Important

The child who is able to play the piano even passably well has received a groundwork upon which in later years a more thorough knowledge of the instrument can easily be built. Children find it so easy and so enjoyable to master the rudiments of music that every parent owes this opportunity to their children.

This store affords a choice of pianos second to none. It provides such sterling instruments as Gerhard-Heintzman, Nordheimer and Craig at prices from

Keen Race Expected In Times Long Swim

Fifteen Swimmers Have Entered so far for Three-mile Race From Causeway to Gorge Bridge Tomorrow Afternoon; Audrey Griffin, Winner for Eight Years, is Assured of Hard Race; Many Young Swimmers Will Try Out Over Distance.

Fifteen swimmers have so far signified their intention of hopping off to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the Causeway Float in the annual Times long distance swim through Victoria. It is possible that before the starting time that other swimmers will send in their entries.

At least one outsider will be here to compete for the honors. Johnny Cameron, of the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club, will make his second effort to try and annex the honors that have been won for the past eight years by Audrey Griffin, of Victoria. Cameron is in great shape and showed that he has plenty of speed despite his unusual stroke when, two weeks ago, he finished second to Tommy Wellburn, of Victoria, in the B.C. quarter-mile swim. Cameron is sure he will be right up in the front rank all the way to-morrow.

VICTORIA IS WELL OFF Cameron, however, faces a very difficult task for he must kick his heels in the face of a quartette of sterling distance swimmers of the Capital if he is to win. He has as his strongest competitor Audrey Griffin who is rated in most quarters as the favorite. Her showing in past years make it apparent that she is the one to beat. In addition to Audrey Cameron will find stiff competition from such well-known performers as Grace Wellburn, Tommy Wellburn and Bert Buller. Jack Kinsman, who has swum the distance for several years and is this year bigger and stronger, will have to be reckoned with while C. R. Ross, the veteran, who has been a strong finisher for the past several years, may achieve his secret ambition and win the race. He is certainly going out under the veteran's medal which has been presented by W. H. Wilkerson.

The V.A.S.C. tops the entry list with nine swimmers, while the Elks have three and V.I.A.A. and Vancouver one each. It is possible that another V.I.A.A. swimmer may enter.

The Times Swim which is the classic of the summer's aquatic programme, is always witnessed by huge crowds of spectators. Ten thousand people annually line the bridges, wharves and shores along the course to cheer the swimmers and learn the progress of the race.

The race will finish at the float at the Gorge Bridge, where the prizes will be presented to the winners. The Times is donating, in addition to the perpetual challenge cup, silver clips for the first three finishers to finish while the B.C. branch of the C.A.S.A. is presenting four prizes in the sealed handicap which was inaugurated last year in connection with the race.

ONLY ONE PRIZE EACH Last year in connection with the swim the winners also won on the handicaps. This year, however, no swimmer will be allowed to take more than one prize and should the first four to reach the Gorge Bridge also win on the handicaps they will not be awarded the prizes. They will go to the next four, who will insure more swimmers participating in the prizes. In addition the veteran's medal presented by W. H. Wilkerson, will go to the first man over forty years of age to finish.

The swimmers who have entered so far are as follows:

V.A.S.C.—Jessie Stott, Bertha Ross, Winnie Silburn, Tommy Wellburn, Grace Wellburn, Dorinda Jones, Bert Buller, Steve Barclay and Jackie Clyde.

Elks S. C.—C. R. Ross, Howard Reid and Jack Kinsman.

V.I.A.A.—Audrey Griffin.

Vancouver—Johnny Cameron.

Unattached—R. Duncan.

Any other swimmer who would like to test his ability to cover the distance is invited to take part provided he has a swimming card.

The rules governing the swim are as follows:

1. The race will be under control of the referee from the time the swimmers enter the water until the finish, the referee having power to disqualify any contestant for any breach of the rules.

2. Entries to appear at the starting raft promptly at 2.15 o'clock.

3. No swimmer shall be allowed to enter the race unless accompanied by a pilot.

4. Pilots are to take up their position fifty yards distant from the starting raft at 2.30 o'clock.

5. Clothes of swimmer to be taken care of by his or her pilot.

6. Any swimmer touching the boat or canoe of his or her pilot will be disqualified.

7. Pilots will not be allowed to go ahead of their entries until the G. T.P. docks have been passed.

8. The J.E.A. has extended the privilege of its clubrooms to the swimmers, who may undress there.

The officials will be as follows:

Judge—W. H. Wilkerson, V.I.A.A.; Referee—V.A.S.C.; Dan O'Sullivan, J.E.A.

Referee—H. Collins, president B.C. branch of the C.A.S.A.

Clerk of course—A. J. Dallan, of the Marine Department.

Announcer and handicapper—V. J. Dunn, secretary of the B.C. branch of the C.A.S.A.

Timers—John Wenger and A. S. Johnson.

Doctor—Dr. W. Holmes.

Starter—Archie Wills.

Australian Net Team Creates a Big Stir in East

Patterson and Wood Disposed of Johnston and Griffin in Great Game

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 22.—Australia's tennis team of Gerald Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood, and the brother combination of R. G. Kinsey and Howard O. Kinsey, from the Pacific Coast, were victors yesterday in the semi-final round of the national doubles championship tournament. It took five sets for each pair to assert themselves in matches that were worthy of the title play.

"Little Bull" Johnston and his partner, Clarence J. Griffin, three times winner of this championship, went down before Australia's dauntless representatives. They had won the first two sets, 6-4, and carried the third to five all, with Patterson a bit undecided, but they were swept away during the time by the pounding placements and service aces that boomed off the same Patterson's racket to make an Australian victory in the last three sets, 6-2, 6-3, 4-6.

The Kinseys came into their honors as finalists by turning back the grandstand courts at the Longwood Cricket Club yesterday, played before a crowd that overflowed the seats and broke into applause that caused the players to smile and grin half a mile away to say afterward they did not believe tennis had in it thrills that would cause such demonstrations.

Miss Helen Wills, with Richards as a partner, defeated in straight sets Miss Sigourney of Boston and Jacques Brunton.

Player of France, the scores were 6-1, 6-4.

Mrs. M. B. Mallory and William T. Tilden II had more difficulty in eliminating Marion Z. Jessup of Wilmington, Del., and R. Lindley Murray, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., 6-3, 6-5.

Mrs. G. W. Whitman, Boston and Jean Boron of France, advanced to meet them in the semi-finals by a victory over Miss Katherine Porter of Boston, and G. E. Lott, Jr., Chicago.

Miss Goss, with R. La Costa, France, became semi-final opponents of Miss Wills and Richards by defeating Mrs. B. E. Cole II of North Andover and R. E. Schlesinger of Australia, 6-3, 6-6, 4-4.

Canadian All-Star Football Team Home From Victorious Tour

Among the notable passengers who arrived on the Canadian-Australian liner this morning were Jimmy Adam and his victorious team of Canadian all-star footballers, who made a four months' tour of Australia. The team is proceeding to Vancouver to meet the Corinthians in a special match to-morrow afternoon.

Those in the above picture are, from left to right: Front row—George Anderson, Ladysmith; R. Harley (captain), Winnipeg; F. Forest, Toronto; F. Bowman, Saskatoon; W. Lanning, Lethbridge; L. Ford, Regina and W. Sanford, Montreal. Back row—Don Morrison, trainer, Ladysmith; J. Armstrong, Vancouver; J. Hood, Brandon; H. Noseworthy, Montreal; H. Mosher, Vancouver; J. Wilson, Edmonton; H. Chapman, Ladysmith; M. McLean, Calgary; D. Stobart, Nanaimo; James Adam, manager, Victoria, and F. Dierdon, Toronto.

Giants Trying To Shake Off Rushes Of Hot Contenders

McGraw's Tribe Take Two Games and Widen Gap Over Pittsburgh and Brooklyn

Washington Gains on Yankees; Detroit and New York in Important Series

New York, Aug. 22.—The Giants continue to set a dizzy pace in the race for the pennant and to-day lead the league by 5½ games, Pittsburgh being in second place, and Brooklyn in third, seven games behind.

The Giants took a double header from St. Louis yesterday while Brooklyn took the first game of the series from Chicago and strengthened their hold on third place.

The Braves staged a ninth-inning rally in the first game of their double-header with Pittsburgh and won the game, but the Pirates won the second.

The Phillies from sliding into the cellar. They went down to overwhelming defeat at the hands of the Reds 11-0.

WASHINGTON MOVES UP The Senators cut the Yankees' lead in the American League to a game and a half when they trimmed the White Sox in a hard-fought game 2-1, while the Yankees remained idle.

Their game which was scheduled with the Tigers yesterday will be played to-day. Detroit is three and a half games behind the leaders and two games behind Washington.

St. Louis and Philadelphia divided a double-header, the Browns landing the first and losing the second.

The Red Sox won a pitchers' battle from the Indians in 10 innings. Boston moved up a notch in the standings to sixth place while the White Sox fell to seventh.

To-day's game between the Yankees and Detroit starts at 2 o'clock. The contest will decide the outcome of the pennant race.

PHILADELPHIA, AUG. 22.—After slugging the offerings of four Philadelphia pitchers in the first game and taking an easy 11 to 2 victory, the St. Louis Americans dropped the second half of yesterday's double header by 5 to 4, despite a ninth inning rally that accounted for three runs.

Young Liberals do Not Wish to Profit By Their Protest

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—Young Liberals, as a ball team, have no desire to profit by any technical advantage the rules of baseball may give them in connection with the series now pending between that club and Hammond Cedars.

This was made abundantly apparent yesterday when the team and the executive met and unanimously agreed to ask the provincial association to throw out altogether the game at Queen's Park which the Liberals won by a score of 1 to 0 and which was protested by Hammond.

Another fine card of matches was played yesterday in the city clay court tennis tournament at the Kingston Street Tennis Club. Sixteen matches were decided.

The field has now narrowed down to five in the men's singles. To-day's matches will decide the finalists.

The ladies' singles are also progressing favorably. In this event the semi-finals have been played. Miss M. Campbell by virtue of her win yesterday will oppose the winner of the Miss M. Leeming-Mrs. Colbourne game in the finals. Gordon and McCallum will meet Westwood and Fairbairn for the right to enter the finals in the men's doubles.

Several interesting matches were played, though in most cases the favorites came through without extending themselves. The Vancouver pair, Green and Stevens, had a hard game on their hands, but disposed of the veterans, Leeming and Brown of the Victoria Club. The younger team had to battle to win.

The Cunningham brothers, Gerald and Jimmy, put on an interesting game in the men's singles. Gerald (Cunningham) left field; Carmichael (Esquimalt), centre field; Jacklin (Esquimalt), right field; reserves, Kennedy (Garrison) and Mesher (Esquimalt).

The Hillcrests have a great team and if the representative nine intends to score a victory over the champs they will have to step lively the whole of the way. The Hillmen will rely on their regular line-up, while the representative team will be as follows: Major H. R. N. Cobbett (Garrison), pitcher; Major L. M. Hughes (Garrison), catcher; Bdr. Wingert (Garrison), first base; Bdr. Nicol (Esquimalt), second base; Sgt. Spiers (Garrison), third base; Joe Watt (Esquimalt), shortstop; L. Sgt. Grimes (Garrison), left field; Carmichael (Esquimalt), centre field; Jacklin (Esquimalt), right field; reserves, Kennedy (Garrison) and Mesher (Esquimalt).

AT THE THEATRES

FEMININE FADS ONCE USED BY MASCULINE SEX

If the manufacturer of cosmetics in the days of Louis XV, of France, were as enterprising as those of today, indorsements would undoubtedly be plastered on billboards all over France. But what a sensation would be created if the people of this age saw or heard of any man publicly recommending cosmetics for the "stronger sex." And yet, it was only about 100 years ago that the men stopped using the beautifiers that are now considered the exclusive property of women.

Few histories record the fact, but it is known that not only did the men of Europe at one time use cosmetics, but they did so in public. Another not unusual sight was to see the wearing, by noblemen, of large fur muffs. It is also a known fact that men of the court of King Louis XV looked on with envy when the King, who was an expert with the thread and needle, embroidered beautiful pieces of cloth.

All these interesting sidelights in history were resurrected for use in the filming of Booth Tarkington's "Monsieur Beaucaire," starring Rudolph Valentino, and which will be

THRILLS AND ACTION MARK COLUMBIA PICTURE

Laughs, thrills, and double-action tempo are in Hoot Gibson's new Universal western feature, "Ride for Your Life," now showing at the Columbia Theatre. It is a colorful story of California's gold rush days, woven around an interesting story theme and well punctuated with droll and rollicking humor. Laura La Plante is in the cast, which was directed by Edward Sedgwick.

NORMAN KERRY IS POPULAR AS SCREEN VILLAIN

Norman Kerry, who plays Seld, the Sheik, in the William Fox Motion picture version of "The Shadow of the East," showing at the Pantages Theatre, is probably the best known of the screen's quasi-villains. His work in "Merry-Go-Round" and "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" recently added new leaves to his laurel wreath. Frank Mayo and Mildred Harris play the leads in "The Shadow of the East," which is said to be a worthy successor to "The Sheik," also written by E. M. Hull.

BEN ALEXANDER CAST IN PERFECT ROLE AT CAPITOL

Ben Alexander, one hundred per cent American boy, who recently became numbered among First National screen stars, precipitated by his acknowledged triumph as "Penrod" in "Penrod and Sam," surpasses all previous honors won, in the J. K. McDonald production, "Boy of Mine," another Booth Tarkington story. Ben Alexander has climbed steadily toward stardom since his first important recognition in "Hearts of the World," and is one of the few professional children who, as they grow older, holds fast to charm identified with extreme youth.

In "Boy of Mine," Ben carries an important role, in company with Henry B. Walthall, Irene Rich and Rockcliffe Fellows. The picture is now being shown at the Capitol Theatre.

ROBERT FRAZER IS GREAT LOVER IN CAPITOL FILM

A new great lover has appeared on the screen horizon. And he bids fair to eclipse the love-making of all his contemporaries, says Pola Negri, who believes him to be the best leading man in pictures. The new Romeo is Robert Frazer. As Martin Devlin in the Metro-Goldwyn picture, "Broadway," which is coming to the Capitol Theatre on Monday, Frazer appears as a lovable, devil-may-care young Irish-American who makes a himself an ideal suitor.

Mr. Frazer has been on the screen for years. Recently he distinguished himself by his remarkable portrayals in "Women Who Give," "When a Man's a Man" and "Men." He has been starred in a number of features such as "When the Desert Calls," "As Men Live" and "Feast of Life."

Born in Worcester, Mass., Frazer was educated in his home state. He began his stage career in 1907 playing a minor role in "The Belle." Following that he appeared for a number of years in repertoire and stock.

Among Douglas Fairbanks' stage hits was "The Show Shop." When Fairbanks left the company, Frazer supplanted him in the leading role, his athletic qualifications making him eligible for the part. Frazer then appeared in the leading role in "Excuse Me."

After essaying his first screen role in pictures in independent production, Frazer became leading man for the old Eclair company with studios at Fort Lee.

He returned to the stage two years later in the title role of "Ben Hur." He then played with Julia Arthur in "Seremonda" in the title role of "The Wanderer," and opposite Mary Nash in "Thy Name is Woman." His last stage engagement was opposite Florence Reed in "The Mirage," after which he devoted himself exclusively to the screen.

He has appeared in "The Love Piker" with Anita Stewart, in "Excitation" and "Jazzmania," opposite Mae Murray, in "Men" with Pola Negri and in "Broken Barriers."

"Broadway" is a picture of Charles G. Norris's famous novel as published by E. P. Dutton & Company. Albert Lewyn and Lenore Coffey adapted it to the screen and Victor Schertzinger directed this Metro-Goldwyn picture which was presented by Louis B. Mayer.

C. S. PRICE ENDS WINNIPEG MISSION

Evangelist Follows Usual Practices There; to go East

Charles S. Price, evangelist, who was before the public here so much early in the year, has just concluded a mission at Winnipeg. Large numbers were appointed and healings were professed on similar lines to the Coast missions.

This revival will be going on in greater force three months from now, declared Dr. Price, as he bade farewell to Winnipeg. It would be carried on, he hoped, in the hearts of the people, and would be felt in all the churches. A meeting, it was announced, would be held in the Winnipeg rink by all interested on the evening Thursday night when an inter-denominational prayer league, similar to that formed in Calgary, would be organized.

SAYS REAL BAPTISM
Rev. Edward Lee, Congregational minister of Minneapolis, formerly of Crystal City, who attended nearly all the Winnipeg meetings, declared that they had been a real baptism in the Holy Ghost. Dr. Price, he asserted, was "a man from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet," and preached the Gospel with confidence and simplicity. Mr. Lee was now convinced, he said, of the truth of divine healing, although he had previously doubted it.

Mrs. F. L. Malcolm, 5 Spadina Court, told the Manitoba Free Press that she had been cured by prayer. Two weeks ago she was carried to the platform, but was so ill that she had to leave the meeting. She later returned and was prayed for. From that moment she began to mend, she declared, although doctors had looked upon her case as hopeless after months in hospital. Before her appointment she had been unable to sleep and had suffered severe pain.

"It is nothing short of a miracle!" she exclaimed.

OF INTEREST TO AUTO TOURISTS
In arranging your Summer trip, you will be pleased to learn that effective July 3, there will be two sailings of the Motor Princess between Bellingham and Sidney, leaving Sidney for Bellingham at 10.45 a.m. and 4.10 p.m., from Bellingham to Sidney at 7 a.m. and 2.30 p.m., daily, including Sunday.

If you have not made the circuit, which you can do by also including the trip between Vancouver and Nanaimo, with sailings from Vancouver at 5 a.m. and 1 p.m. (for all-sized cars), 10 a.m. and 5.30 p.m. (for smaller cars), and from Nanaimo to Vancouver at 7 a.m. daily except Sunday and Monday (for small cars), 2.15 p.m. daily except Sunday (for small cars), 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. (for all-sized cars) daily, including Sunday.

FANNY SAW RED AND MADE MEAL OF SHOW RIBBON AND HONORS

Flattery, praise and prizes may prove some consolation to a handsome chocolate and white Torgenburg taken from its comfortable quarters and placed where thousands of admiring but curious visitors to the Goat Building at the Provincial Fair gaze on it every day, but these things failed to impress the friendly but dignified entry of Reginald Storer from his Mt. Tormie ranch. Fanny as the famous chocolate and white is named had apparently proved a disappointment to Storer's many friends who went to the fair to see the honors pinned all over it. No ribbons graced its pen, but after Mr. Finner had prepared his lists it appeared as a second prize winner. Than the mystery of the hole in the show card leaked out. With her customary meal time delayed five minutes, Fanny calmly climbed her pen and made a meal on the red prize ribbon and a portion of the show card. Goat fanciers have now another argument in support of their assertions that in spite of popular opinion goats are really the most fastidious of eaters.

STOCKS UNDER SELLING PRESSURE

New York, Aug. 22 (By R. P. Clark & Co., Ltd.)—Weakness in the stock market was present to-day; liquidation being quite pronounced in certain directions. Pressure seemed to be largely in issues which recently had enjoyed substantial advances. There was no particular news associated with the selling and the new turn appeared to be in the nature of a corrective movement growing out of the substantial gains which were recorded in many quarters.

It looks as though the reaction may extend somewhat further but we believe that purchases on the declines will be profitable later on.

GRAIN OFF SEVERAL POINTS

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 22 (By R. P. Clark & Co., Ltd.)—Wheat: Short covering and buying exchange export sales caused a rally from the opening decline, but the pressure increased on the rallies and later in the day the market broke following a slump at Winnipeg and prospects for better weather, which will increase the movement of Spring wheat rapidly. Canadian crop prospects are better and the usual frost periods have been passed without serious damage while cool wet weather probably has resulted in a better filling of the crop than expected. Export business is fair and sales here today were 400,000 bushels. However, the sales are not sufficiently large to cause much improvement in prices as receipts are so large, primary arrivals being 1,120,000 yds. 1,461,000 a year ago. The market is still struggling with a big load of profit taking sales put in the pit the past week and with the increased yields in this country over early estimates.

Corn—Further liquidation in corn was increased by the outlook for better weather and prices broke badly. Cash demand was fair, but there is little investment demand, while shorts found the market easily accommodated. The cause of present weakness in corn is not that crop prospects have improved much, but that the attempt to advance prices unreasonably in discounting the crop left the market in a weak technical position as soon as the big holders sold out.

The market has not yet encountered the demand that will change the pit situation.

Oats: Low grade oats broke one to four cents in the cash market and there was also a decline in futures in the pit, as indications are for large receipts from now on, while the demand is moderate.

The cash demand was fair with sales of 100,000 bushels. The market has had a big decline, but the tone was weak at the close.

Rye: Sluggish and did not hold nearly as well as wheat. The need is apparent for a better export demand.

quiet, the rabbit gentleman asked:

"Who are you?" Buck came the same question, only louder.

"WHO ARE YOU?"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "I know what this is—it's an echo. The sides of the valley reflect back your voice as a looking glass reflects light, only the sound is made louder. Come now, you try it." So Johnnie shouted "Hello!" and the echo answered "HELLO!" Billie cried: "I'm not afraid!" and the echo said: "I'M NOT AFRAID!"

So the animals boys laughed, and thought the echo very jolly until, all of a sudden, a big black bear rushed out of the bushes and looked hungrily at Uncle Wiggily's ears.

"Oh-ee-ee-ee!" whispered Peetie. And the echo murmured the same.

"I've come to get you, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Who are you?" Buck came the same question, only louder.

"WHO ARE YOU?"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "I know what this is—it's an echo. The sides of the valley reflect back your voice as a looking glass reflects light, only the sound is made louder. Come now, you try it." So Johnnie shouted "Hello!" and the echo answered "HELLO!" Billie cried: "I'm not afraid!" and the echo said: "I'M NOT AFRAID!"

So the animals boys laughed, and thought the echo very jolly until, all of a sudden, a big black bear rushed out of the bushes and looked hungrily at Uncle Wiggily's ears.

"Oh-ee-ee-ee!" whispered Peetie. And the echo murmured the same.

"I've come to get you, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Who are you?" Buck came the same question, only louder.

The "CALORIC" Furnace Is Popular Because It Saves Fuel and Saves Money

Only a few years ago thousands of people could not imagine how the whole house could be heated through one register. The idea was new, but since then they have been convinced by actual demonstration in the homes of their friends. Caloric fuel economy and efficiency are recognized to-day—you should consider it if you have a heating problem to solve.

Notice to Breeders of Livestock

Mr. Erick Bowman, the discoverer of The Bowman Remedy, claims that in treating 70,000 cattle in the United States the results have been successful in 98% of the cases treated.

Are your dairy cows and heifers causing you trouble?

Do you obtain results in calves and milk that satisfy you?

Do your cows (according to your knowledge of their capacity) produce as much milk as they should—or are you marking time and feeding a number of boarders that should be sent to the butcher?

These are matters that can be put right. Delays are fatal. Why not consult

EAGLE LODGES TO MEET IN VICTORIA

Vancouver, Aug. 22—Eagle lodges of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia will meet in Victoria next June for the holding of the 1925 convention of the series of this district. It is stated by Walter J. S. Laurie, secretary for Vancouver, that about 1,400 delegates will be present at the convention from the neighboring states.

WORK OF BLIND MEN IS SHOWN AT FAIR

Appeal is Made to Visitors to Help Build up Industry For Sightless

Through an exhibit in the Main Building of the Provincial Fair an appeal is made to help support the effort that is being made by the British Columbia branch of the National Institute for the Blind to build up an industry so that profitable sheltered employment can be provided for the sightless of the Province. Twelve blind men, several of whom are war veterans, are pluckily striving to become useful citizens in the factory at Vancouver and if a ready market for the products of their labor were found they would be an asset in the labor market. Some of their work is shown at the exhibit at the Fair. The biggest output is brooms and brushes and to appeal to Victoria housewives there is a brush named after this city which is handled through the stores of Victoria. Six hundred dozen brooms a month is the output of the factory, "but Victoria," says C. Brown, who is in charge of the exhibit, "is our worst customer. We believe that it is only because housewives do not know that they can purchase brooms made by blind persons in British Columbia, and we believe that after the Fair our sales in this territory will go up." Bungalow aprons and white work made by blind women are also sold in the city stores, Mr. Brown points out.
